Dan Campbell learns about plant communities from Dr. Paul Keddy on the new Atchafalaya River delta.

MUST READ

Water, Earth, Fire: Louisiana's Natural Heritage by Dr. Paul Keddy is a comprehensive guide to all things in the realm of nature from the Sabine to the Pearl, from Arkansas to the Gulf, from prehistory to the present. The book covers an amazing range of subjects: plants, animals, wilderness areas, land forms, the geologic past, hurricanes, native Americans, exploration and settlement and how the forces of water, earth and fire shaped this land. The internationally recognized ecologist and former resident of Ponchatoula has given us a beautiful portrait of Louisiana's staggering natural diversity and a compelling reason why it must be protected.

Copies are available from Xlibris.com and Bayou Booksellers, 201 W. Thomas, Hammond, LA 70401, (985) 542 -1124. |